SRRI risk evaluation

1 2 3 4 5 6 7

This Compartment is in category 4 since the price changes of the benchmark used for this calculation have been moderate in the past. The following risks are not fully reflected in the above classification but still influence the Compartment's value. Further information about risk can be found in the investment memorandum which is available at the registered office of the AIFM upon request. Investments in emerging markets involve increased risks which may include investment and repatriation restrictions, currency fluctuations, unusual market volatility, government control and participation in the private sector, limited investor information or less extended disclosure requirements, shallow and substantially smaller liquid securities markets than in more industrialized countries.

Fund structure: SICAV / SIF

Analytical information

Modified Duration: 1.75
Effective maturity: 2.06
Average Yield To Maturity (YTM): 15.18%

Fund's objective

The investment objective of the Sub-Fund is to achieve a high total return and capital growth by investing at least 60% of its Net Asset Value in Emerging Markets Bonds and other fixed income instruments. The sub-fund invests mainly in 4 different strategies: short term carry trades, medium term carry trades, pure convexity trades, and structured bonds such as hybrid or fix-to-floats. The allocation on each strategy varies according to different market conditions and sub-fund general strategy. Leverage is used as a key tool in order to boost performance of short term strategies, as well as short term cashflow, which will vary between 0-65% of NAV, depending on market / volatility conditions, and sub-fund general strategy.
